BARR'S EDINBURGH TO GLASGOW RELAY

MIZUNO Racing Club won the famous inter-city race for the seventh year in a row with the fifth biggest winning margin in the 59-year history of the event, Fraser Clyne reports.

The Edinburgh side claimed five of the fastest stage times as they romped to an emphatic victory, finishing 4min 30sec ahead of Shettleston Harriers who collected silver medals for the third time in four years.

John Robson and Davie Ross now share the distinction of being the only two athletes to have featured in all seven winning Mizuno line-ups since 1991.

Shettleston can at least still claim the record for most victories in the big race, having won 12 times between 1949 and 1976.

Kilbarchan snatched third with a dramatic last gasp effort from George Gibson on the final leg. It's the first time the Renfrewshire side has featured among the medalists.

Fife received the special award for the most meritorious performance after finishing fifth - their highest ever position.

Further down the field, 50-year-old Colin Youngson made his 28th appearance in the race and helped Metro Aberdeen to ninth place.

Guest club Bedford and County had included Paula Radcliffe in its squad of 20 athletes listed for the race, but the world cross country silver medallist decided not to compete. Her club eventually finished 11th - an improvement of four places on the English side's 1996 effort.

Stage One

BILLY JENKINS led the elite field of 20 invited clubs off from Fettes College and went on to give Clydesdale Harriers the best possible start in their quest to record an historic first victory by racing home 100m clear of Shettleston's David Cameron.

Mizuno's John Ross was a further 50m down in third while indoor international Gary Brown brought 1990 winners Falkirk Victoria through in fourth spot.

Stage Two

ALLAN ADAMS kept Clydesdale ahead with the fastest time, but Ken Chapman overhauled

Shettleston's Andy Little to ease

Mizuno into second place. Ken Stirrat kept Falkirk in fourth.

Stage Three

JOHN ROBSON turned in arguably the best individual performance of the day as he propelled Mizuno into what turned out to be a decisive lead.

The 40-year-old former international turned a 150m deficit at the start of the shortest stage of the race into a lead of close to 800m by the end as he screamed away from Clydesdale's Ewan Calvert.

Bobby Quinn, recovering from recent injury problems, brought Kilbarchan up from seventh to third with the second best time of the day while Shettleston's John Duffy slipped to fourth.

Stage Four

MIZUNO's Ian Brown powered further ahead of the chasing clubs with a strong front-running performance. Adrian Callan regained second for Shettleston but Racing Club now enjoyed a lead of over three minutes.

Kheridine Idesanee held third for Clydesdale as Kilbarchan retreated to fourth.

Stage Five

SCOTT COHEN extended the champions' lead by another 60 seconds as he sped away from the pursuing Willie Coyle.

Clydesdale held third while Sandy Moss brought Fife onto the fringe of the medal positions for the first time with an excellent run which elevated his side from seventh to fourth.

Stage Six

PAT O'KEEFE experienced the loneliness of the long distance runner as he recorded the fastest time on the longest stage of the day.

However, despite this fine effort, the Hunters Bog Trotter didn't have the satisfaction of passing another competitor and his side stayed in ninth place.

At the front, Davie Ross consolidated Mizuno's emphatic lead with Graeme Wight gaining a little ground to keep Shettleston securely in the silver medal position.

Former Scottish junior cross country champion Daniel Leggate raised Fife into third ahead of Clydesdale's Jim Austin.

Stage Seven

MIZUNO's smooth progression towards victory continued as Frank McGowan extended the lead yet again with John Mackay gamely, but vainly, chasing in second spot.

Stewart Latimer held third for Fife while Andrew Muir brought Kilbarchan back into the frame by hoisting his side from seventh to fourth.

Stage Eight

GLEN STEWART went through the motions of confirming another Mizuno success with an impressive solo performance which yielded the fastest last leg time.

Chris Robison wasn't much slower in anchoring Shettleston to the silver medals, although he just avoided colliding with a car at an unmarshalled junction near the finish.

There was genuine excitement behind the front two as the battle for bronze intensified over the closing miles along the roads towards the finish inside Crownpoint stadium.

John Cowan had brought Cambuslang into third for the first time in the race when he overtook Fife's David Anderson and Kilbarchan's George Gibson.

Anderson dropped out of contention over the final mile and Cowan seemed to have seized the initiative as he broke clear of Gibson with only 300m remaining.

Gibson, a former junior 800m international, refused to give up however and dramatically regained the important final medal spot with a strong sprint over the final 100m around the track.

AFTER tough runs at Barnsley and Llandudno on successive Sundays, Martin McLoughlin had few problems in dominating this event, Keith Bradshaw reports. Lancashire 10km champion Steve Smith made the early running before McLoughlin assumed control at the three-mile mark. Salford's Duncan Mason led the chase but McLoughlin stretched his lead throughout the second half to build a two minute winning gap. "That was a good workout," declared the 38-year-old at the finish. "It was very windy, and running on my own I settled for a steady run. I'm going to have a look at cross country now. The Reebok Challenge at Cardiff, then the Inter-Counties are the next targets." Mason came in second, with Steve Smith from host club Preston Harriers taking third to add the Lancashire 10 mile title to his collection. Accountant Smith got his calculations wrong on the final corner as he came a cropper in a pile of wet, slippery leaves. Despite the high speed crash, and severe grazing down his side, he was delighted with the run which helped Preston to the team prize. He said: "The fall didn't even slow me down. I slid along so quickly in the leaves. I was too shocked to think about what happened. It was a case of get up and get on with it." Altrincham veteran Alison Vesey was unchallenged in the women's race, coming through strongly in the second half to win by over two minutes. She said: "It was a good course and a great atmosphere, the winds bothered me a bit, but I thoroughly enjoyed the run." Preston's Phillipa Walsh, another veteran, took second and the county title. Her run helped the host club to clinch a team double, pipping Horwich by one point. North Fylde's Stuart and Ruth Calderbank have won many prizes between them, but never in the same race. At Preston the school teaching duo were delighted to win their respective veteran categories.
