SCCU SIX-STAGE RELAYS EAST KILBRIDE 23RD MARCH 1991

REEBOK Racing Club has wasted little time in making its presence felt in Scottish athletics, Fraser Clyne reports.

Formed earlier this year, the Edinburgh-based outfit scored its first success at the Scottish Cross-country Championships in February when Tom Hanlon won the senior title.

Now Reebok has secured its first national team championship, winning the Scottish Six-Stage Relay in convincing fashion at East Kilbride.

Reebok, bolstered by the debut appearance of John Robson, easily defeated the reigning champions Dundee Hawkhill Harriers, Shettleston Harriers were a surprise third, just ahead of national cross-country team champions Cambuslang Harriers.

There was a shock for Dundee on the opening leg as their second team runner Ian Campbell handed over in the lead with their first team runner Chris Hall two seconds behind in third place. Reebok were back in 12th place.

Robert Quinn made up 17 places on the second stage to put Kilbarchan into what was to be a short-lived lead. David Donnett was equally impressive in taking Springburn from 19th to third spot. Alan Robson moved Reebok into fifth place as John Mackay put Shettleston into second with Dundee Hawkhill dropping to fourth.

Brian Kirkwood, a veteran of the Sun Life Great Race, put Reebok into what turned out to be a winning lead on the third stage, John Robson, returning the fastest long stage time of the day, consolidated Reebok's lead on leg four, and Gordon Crawford and Tom Hanlon maintained the Edinburgh team's advantage over the final tow circuits.

Dundee Hawkhill pipped Shettleston for the bronze medal on the last leg as Peter McColgan overtook Nat Muir.
